SPECIFIC DATA OF THE SUBJECT

Contextualization of the subject
Contribution to the professional profile of the degree
The contemporary world is built on media discourses. What we know through them matters as much as direct, face-to-face experience. Media are a space where meanings, representations, values and cultural models are constructed and negotiated. For this reason, media professionals are essential for society. Beyond instrumental knowledge, always in constant change, these professionals must have a capacity for formal analysis, the management of written and audiovisual tools and an understanding of their cultural implications. This course prepares these future professionals with a broad, global, and interdisciplinary perspective.
Prerequisites

Written and spoken English. Analysis skills and critical reflection.
