How to succeed in this course

The course emphasizes reading, debating, and writing skills that are sometimes unfamiliar, but essential. There are no notes available, but all materials needed would be available. The readings are only the beginning, as they are a springboard in many lectures. You should be taking notes on the readings and deepening your knowledge of the historical issues through more reading.

At the end of the course, students will have a sophisticated understanding of contemporary European political issues and can place them within the broader context of 20th/21st century history.
