ABOUT THE AUTHOR OF THE ORIGINAL WORK

Born in 1965, David C. Kang is a political scientist specializing in East Asia, and China and Korea in particular. He was raised in California, the son of early-wave Korean immigrants, and—having previously been a visiting professor at universities in the United States, Europe, and Asia—is currently professor of international relations and business, and director of the Korean Studies Institute, at the University of Southern California. Kang has authored four books, and has published numerous scholarly and popular articles. His collaborations with colleagues who have fundamentally opposing views, such as his dialogue with political scientist Victor Cha, demonstrate his commitment to conversation and cooperation across ideological divides.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS OF THE ANALYSIS

Dr Matteo Dian holds a PhD in international relations from the Scuola Normale Superiore di Pisa, where he research focused on the evolution of the US-Japanese alliance after World War II. He is currently a research fellow at the University of Bologna, where he continues to work on international relations with a special focus on the place of China in world politics.

Dr Jason Xidias holds a PhD in European Politics from King's College London, where he completed a comparative dissertation on immigration and citizenship in Britain and France. He was also a Visiting Fellow in European Politics at the University of California, Berkeley. Currently, he is Lecturer in Political Science at New York University.

ABOUT MACAT

GREAT WORKS FOR CRITICAL THINKING

Macat is focused on making the ideas of the world's great thinkers accessible and comprehensible to everybody, everywhere, in ways that promote the development of enhanced critical thinking skills.

It works with leading academics from the world's top universities to produce new analyses that focus on the ideas and the impact of the most influential works ever written across a wide variety of academic disciplines. Each of the works that sit at the heart of its growing library is an enduring example of great thinking. But by setting them in context – and looking at the influences that shaped their authors, as well as the responses they provoked – Macat encourages readers to look at these classics and game-changers with fresh eyes. Readers learn to think, engage and challenge their ideas, rather than simply accepting them.
