DATOS ESPECÍFICOS DE LA ASIGNATURA

Contextualización de la asignatura

Aportación al perfil profesional de la titulación

After taking the Business Management course, the student will be able to understand what a company is, what its raison d'être is, what role it plays in society and how it is organized. They will also be able to understand the steps involved in the formulation, implementation, evaluation, and control of strategies.

In order to be able to carry out the formulation, implementation, evaluation, and control of strategies, the student will acquire the necessary capacity to analyze the company internally and externally. This will allow him/her to detect the company's main strengths and weaknesses, as well as the threats and opportunities it faces in the market, facilitating the establishment of SMART objectives and the implementation of appropriate strategies to achieve them.

After the course, students will be able to understand one of the main evaluation and control tools used by a large percentage of companies for the evaluation and control of objectives. Likewise, students will learn the importance of ethical, social responsibility, and sustainability aspects in all processes of formulation, implementation, evaluation, and control.

Finally, the student will be able to demonstrate all the knowledge acquired through the elaboration of a business plan based on the Business Model Canvas in which all the concepts applied throughout the course will be taken into account.

Note: The student will be able to see the importance of business analytics in each and every aspect surrounding a company.

METODOLOGÍA DOCENTE

Aspectos metodológicos generales de la asignatura

Metodología Presencial: Actividades

AF1. Master class lessons in which the teacher will present the main contents in a clear, structured way and seeking the motivation of the student at all times through the support of PowerPoint transparencies, videos, audios, visualizations, etc.

AF2. Participatory sessions of an expository nature. In each master class, the master class will be combined with the debate and/or discussion on the topic in question corresponding to each class. This requires the student to be prepared to discuss the subject of study and the readings, videos, or audios that will be indicated to the student in advance.

The teacher will lead the presentation of the basic notions, with the active and collaborative participation of the students, who will discuss and debate the dark points or nuances that are relevant to the correct understanding of the contents. It will include practical cases as the backbone of the presentation of ideas and content, dynamic presentations, and the formal or spontaneous participation of students through various activities.

Active participation in the classroom is an excellent tool to enhance the learning of the student who participates and his or her peers present in the classroom. A productive learning environment requires that everyone in the classroom be actively involved.

AF3. Individual test resolution. Students will be given short questionnaires about the subject matter dealt with in class to see their degree of progress in the subject

AF4. Cooperative Learning: The goal of this activity is to encourage cooperative work in groups of 4-6 people. The aim is to promote the autonomy and motivation of learning thanks to the shared responsibility. Application of real tools.

AF6. Analysis and resolution of cases proposed by the teacher, based on a brief reading, a material prepared for the occasion, or any other type of data or information that allows the application in practice of the theoretical knowledge acquired, and favors the development of the critical thinking capacity of the student. They are based on the selection of professional materials adapted to the subject, with the aim of training the student to solve real problems and to acquire several capacities to react to unexpected situations and approaches.

AF7. Public exhibition of topics or works. Presentation and defense of their work in front of the teacher and the rest of their classmates. It takes place individually or collectively. It will be valued the conceptual organization, the domain of the treated matter, the expositive clarity, the respect and rationality of the different phases. In the case of being a collective exercise, the active collaboration of each one of the members of the team will be required.

Metodología No presencial: Actividades

AF8. Individual study and extension of the documentation that the student carries out to understand, re-elaborate and retain scientific content with a view to a possible application in his/her profession. Individual reading of texts (bibliography) and notes of different types (books, magazines, individual articles, press, Internet publications, reports on practical experiences, etc.) related to the subjects of study.

F11. Academic tutoring, for the resolution of problems that may have arisen in the course of learning the subject or in the process of acquiring the corresponding skills, as well as for the supervision of the student's progress in his/her work.

AF12. Monographic research. A cooperative learning procedure that starts with the assignment of students to teams and the approach of a task that requires research, sharing of information and resources among team members in order to achieve the common goal. Individual objectives are achieved if and only if others achieve theirs, so there is a great deal of personal interdependence in achieving the goals.
